In order to address health disparities related to ageism, The DAISY Foundation is offering grants to support nurses who aim to improve care of older adults. These grants will fund research and evidence-based practice (EBP) that:

• may reduce ageism and the associated clinical and psychosocial risks.

• identify changes in practice behaviors or improvements to existing or new standards of care that deliver equitable care, regardless of age.

• develop and measure the impact of educational and experiential case studies that teach sensitivity toward commonly held negative age biases and/or build cultural awareness to reduce or eliminate them.
